Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery, which he called ALLENRU, to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed McFall's Drug Store and druggists everywhere to dispense Allenru with the understanding that if the first bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.—adv.

First Law Suit On Growers Contract

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 26.—The Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative association has taken the first step to enforce its marketing agreement and contract with its suit against Garrett Watts, wealthy Fayette county farmer, alleging that he violated his contract.

It is charged that he failed to deliver to it under that contract more than 70,000 pounds of tobacco and that he delivered only 3,500 pounds to the association. Damages in the sum of $3,500 and attorney's fees of $1,000 additional are asked, both damages and fees being provided for by the contract itself.

Mr. Watts had been to the races at Latonia Saturday and was on his way back home when a deputy sheriff boarded the train at Paris and served the papers in the suit, which was filed in the Bourbon circuit court for the association's attorneys, being Franklin Talbot and Chapman, of Lexington and Paris and Worthington, Browning and Reed, Mayville. Just why the papers were served in Bourbon county or why the suit is filed in that county was not made clear.

The petition recites the details of the organization of the burley association, the provision in the contract that growers who may violate it shall pay five cents a pound as liquidated damages as well as all costs and attorneys' fees, and then goes on to say that Mr. Watts pledged 75,000 pounds of tobacco, the product of 75 acres of land owned by him, that he delivered to the association only 3,550 pounds; that the association went to the expense of acquiring warehouses to receive the crop of Mr. Watts and he other members of the association employed graders and inspectors to standardize the grades of burley tobacco, and provided for the handling, curing and shipping of all tobacco entrusted to the plaintiff association by its members.

The petition further states that due notice of the formation of the association was given Mr. Watts and all other members of the association and that Mr. Watts, "though able to do so, failed and refused to deliver to the plaintiff association or to any warehouse or plant controlled by the association, or at all, any of the tobacco embraced in defendant's agreement and application for membership, the defendant becomes indebted to plaintiff in the agreed and stipulated sum of five cents per pound thereon, aggregating $3,500, no part of which has been paid; plaintiff states that $1,000 is a reasonable attorney fee for plaintiff's attorneys for the prosecution of this action and that by terms of said agreement defendant understood and agreed to pay the same, no part of which has been paid.

When the train on which Mr. Watts was coming from Latonia arrived at Paris it was boarded by Assistant Counsel Virgil Chapman of the burley association, Clyde E. Buckley, a member and Deputy Sheriff James Gibson. When they came to Mr. Watts' seat in the car, Mr. Buckley said pleasantly, "Good evening, Mr. Watts," and the deputy sheriff, who did not know Mr. Watts, promptly served the papers in the case, the petition having been filed previously with Circuit Clerk Webb, of the Bourbon circuit court.

The suit, the first one of the kind filed since the organization of the burley association, is most important to that organization for its success or failure will show either it has or has not the power to enforce its contract by the punishment of those who may violate them.

DANVILLE GIRLS CAMPING

A party of Danville girls are encamped at Reeves Mill near Sutherland where they are enjoying the open air life, fishing and swimming. Those from this city who have joined the party are Misses E. F. Swain, Fannie Swain, Nell Bondurant, Elvin Adams, and Wilma Cassell.

—Mrs. J. P. Francis is seriously ill at the General Hospital.

Here's Marshall Neelan and his bride, Blanche Sweet. And look what Blanche has gone and done—had those beautiful blond tresses shorn.

Danville Lions Presented With Their Charter

Danville cubs are now truly full-grown Lions, attested to by the Charter presentation last night at the Golf Club. Seventy-six members and guests, attended the banquet and presentation exercises. The committee in charge of the entertainment program extended itself and this feature of the evening was a marked success.

Judge E. J. Harvey, Lions president, handled the event and when he gave the signal the Lions roared and there was considerable roaring, first and last, individually and collectively.

The speaker of the evening was E. A. Ruffin, director Lions International, Richmond, who presented the Charter. The subject of Mr. Ruffin's address was "Above the Alps." He drew the analogy of Hannibal's tremendous task when he brought his troops to the foot of the Alps in Gaul, his intention being to invade the fertile fields of Italy. "There are no Alps," said the speaker, "in the life of a man, and with that attitude of mind he successfully surmounted the difficulties of rough mountain climbing, ice and snow and finally reached the Valley of the Po."

"It is in everyday life," said the speaker, "Success and attainment are all a matter of the mind."

Mr. Ruffin's speech was inspiring in great degree and he brought a message of cheer and good wishes from the International organization, which was appreciated by the members of the Danville Lions club.

President Harvey replied to Mr. Ruffin's presentation address in a few brief but appropriate words. He voiced the hope that the Danville club would live up to the principles of Honesty and fully appreciate the obligations that membership imposed.

Other speakers were: Mayor Harry Wooding, Frank Talbot, president of the Kiwanis Club, A. A. Booth, president of the Rotary Club, W. P. Boatwright, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Col. A. E. Carrington, president of the City Council. All of these speakers welcomed the Lions Club to a permanent place in the civic and social organizations of the city.

Throughout the evening the members and guests were entertained and kept in suspense by the activities of the entertainment committee, which had prepared a number of stunts that were put across in great style.

First, there was a lottery of a piano and every lady present was given a chance at this instrument. Ostensibly the piano was being given by a piano manufacturing concern and the way was paved for the winning of a letter from this concern. Then the lottery. Miss Dickinson won the piano and six able-bodied men were called upon to bring the instrument in. The denouement came when these men brought in a piano not over eight inches tall.

Then there was a lottery of a baby. The "baby" turned out to be an infant fox terrier. The winner was Mrs. N. C. Jones.

There followed a radio fake, which had been rigged up by A. S. Clarke. This had most every one in the audience fooled, so cleverly was it carried out.

The stunt features on the program came to an end by holding an impromptu speaker and Col. W. M. Pomeroy, superintendent of D. M. L., was elected to give a talk on the "Female of the Species." The colonel had evidently done a lot of thinking on the subject and his remarks were not only amusing and tactful, but covered the subject as well as could be expected in so brief a period.

The music was in charge of H. E. Spessard, of the Schoolfield Y. M. C. A., and this feature of the program was admirably handled. Appearing were Miss Louise Bonds of Arkansas, a visitor in Danville, in solo numbers; a solo by Basil Browder, a solo by Mr. Spessard.

After 10 o'clock the orchestra of the Broadway theatre appeared and the floor was cleared for dancing. After a round of one-steps and fox-trots there was a demand for the Virginia Reel. This was led by Col. A. E. Carrington, who demonstrated that he was not a "square" in the line of his Reel. The colonel was ably seconded by Mayor Wooding and others.

In connection with the musical program, in fact the first number, was a table entertainment by Mrs. Harvey, which was well known in this city. In addition to the prizes that were awarded in the various stunt lotteries and contests favors for the feminine guests of the evening were ordered.

INSANE MAN HAS DEFIED POLICE 11 DAYS

HINTON, W. Va., July 26.—Sheriff's deputies and state police, using tear gas, early tonight made preparation to rush a house in which John Fredeking, an insane man, has defied capture for eleven days. One man has been killed and four were wounded.

Fredeking, who is about 35 years old, has been insane for 15 years but has been cured for by his family. Eleven days ago, his condition became suddenly violent. He drove his father and his family from the house.

Lou Matty, a prohibition officer, attempted to enter the house after Fredeking barricaded himself. He was shot and killed. Earle Hope, of White Sulphur Springs, forced entrance into the house several days later. He was shot through the breast but managed to leave the building. He is in a local hospital and his condition is said to be critical.

John Adams and an unidentified man were slightly wounded in a later effort to arrest Fredeking. The battle has continued intermittently day and night. Efforts were made tonight by state police to dislodge Fredeking by the use of tear gas bombs. The force of officers has been increased and while it is understood that an effort will be made to capture Fredeking without loss of life, it is probable that the house will be stormed, if necessary.

After an unsuccessful attempt was made to bomb the house, the police decided not to rush the building tonight. At midnight a guard of five state police was stationed at the house.

Chief of Police Taylor said his squad would be reinforced tomorrow and that a more determined effort would be made to capture Fredeking.

HONDURAS BUILDS NEW MOTOR ROADS

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, July 26.—The motor high-road across Honduras from ocean to ocean will be finished within three months.

It runs from San Lorenzo, on the Pacific, to Tegucigalpa, 130 miles; then to Comayagua, 103 miles; then to Siguatepeque, 40 miles; then to Lake Yojoa, 42 miles, then to Peten-rillos, 50 miles.

Work is also in progress on another highroad to unite San Pedro Sula, important city on the Atlantic coast, with the territory bordering on the Salvador frontier, a distance of about 300 miles. Several other roads for motor traffic in the interior also have been started.

As there are no railroads in this country except on the Atlantic littoral, all traffic is now changing from the old-fashioned ox-carts to motor cars and trucks.

GERMAN AIRMEN AID PARAGUAYAN REBELS

BUENOS AIRES, July 26.—The offensive of Paraguayan troops against the rebels is progressing favorably, according to a despatch to La Nacion from Asuncion, which announced the occupation of Sapucay, a railroad terminus 50 miles southeast of Asuncion.

Great enthusiasm was aroused by the report that Mr. Ayala, president of the republic, intends leading a general offensive against the rebels, who lately have been joined by three German aviators.

BIG BATTLE IS PROBABLY NEAR

DUBLIN, July 26.—(Associated Press.) The only news received here from Cork consists of scraps of information by indirect and devious routes.

According to these the big battle so long expected may be imminent, or possibly already in progress.

The irregulars have concentrated in large numbers between Fermoy and Waterford; the railway has been destroyed at several points and reinforcements are being rushed up. Fermoy always has been a big military center and Eamon De Valera is reported to be in command of the irregulars who are believed to be well supplied with arms and ammunition. It is not known, however, whether there has been any actual fighting yet.

Travelers from Cork cannot reach Dublin by road or rail; they must make a tedious journey by way of Fishguard and thence to Holyhead or Liverpool.

A detachment of Free State troops operating from Galway today came in contact with fifty irregulars marching from Kinnarra. A sharp engagement ensued and seventeen irregulars were captured.

GIRL IS HELD AS STATE'S WARD

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 26.—A. Poris McKethan, whose body was found near the roadside seven miles west of here last Thursday afternoon and in connection with whose death Mildred Brewer, a 15-year-old girl, has been held, was killed accidentally, according to a finding of the juvenile court after a secret trial here today, it was announced.

The Brewer girl, member of a prominent Alabama family, was adjudged a ward of the state and placed on probation under Miss Emma MacMillen, probation officer.

The girl was committed to the care and custody of her mother, Mrs. Frank Richardson and directed to report with her mother, to the juvenile judge every Saturday morning until further order.

McKethan was killed last Thursday by a pistol shot through the head and Mildred Brewer surrendered to the police, telling them she shot him, but made no explanation of the act.

M. POINCARÉ FIXES LONDON VISIT DATE

PARIS, July 26.—On August 1, Raymond Poincaré, the Premier, is prepared to be in London. This fact, now decided, shows the lack of satisfaction of many comments which represented the French Premier as refusing to meet Mr. Lloyd George till after the Reparation Commission had taken its decision and until Germany was declared in default. As already indicated, a V. erroneous interpretation of M. Poincaré's thought. For some time he has realized that the essential thing is an intentional loan which would go partly to Germany and partly to France.

In order that the loan shall be made possible, France must consent to a reduction of the total German indemnity and in order that the French Premier can consent he has to receive compensation which will make the concession acceptable to public opinion. These questions are all connected in the closest manner.

Moreover Mr. Poincaré believes that the utmost control should be exercised by the allies over Germany's finances. In defining this immediate policy he called for a moratorium. It only meant that longer opportunities should be given to Germany to make arrangements of a wiser character. The commission had proposed a definite reply to Germany by August 15 and Mr. Poincaré realizing that the reply could not be ready since latest policy would not be framed desired to extend the time.

Mountain Climbing Calls For Courage

LONDON, July 26.—"Mountaineering is not necessarily a rugged, but is entirely a question of prudence and of courage, of strength and steadiness, and of a feeling for nature and her most hidden beauties, which are often awe-inspiring, but for that reason the more sublime, and to contemplative spirits the more suggestive."

Sir Francis Younghusband, speaking before the Royal Geographical Society on the Mount Everest expedition, used the foregoing words to express the sentiment which has animated all those connected with the expedition, and then said they were written 33 years ago by a certain Father Itatti, who has now become Pope Pius XI.

After describing what the expedition had accomplished Sir Francis said: "The experience gained this year shows that skilled mountaineers are able to take those unskilled in high mountain craft to the highest altitudes. Geoffrey Bruce had never climbed a snow and ice mountain before. Yet under Finch's skilled leadership he was able to attain a height of 27,300 feet. And the Sherpa porters, who were practically untrained to snow and ice work, were able, under General Bruce's stimulating influence, to carry loads up to 25,500 feet, some of them making the journey four times and so earning the unstinted praise of the best mountaineers."

After describing the organization and combination of effort, using experience to guide inexperience, and by the display of indomitable pluck on the part of the highest climbers, the expedition has at a bound brought the record up from 24,600 feet to 27,300 feet and thus left only 1,700 feet to be climbed before the crowning summit is reached.

"The standard of human achievement has thereby been sensibly raised. And many another traveller, and many another struggler upward in every walk of life and in every country, will be braced and heartened in remembering what Finch and Mallory, Somervell, Norton and Bruce have this year accomplished on Mount Everest. And this, to my mind, is incomparably the most valuable result of the expedition, and a result which makes their efforts in the highest degree worth while."

WILL PLACE REMAINS BY THOSE OF HUSBAND

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 26.—The remains of Boone Kite Sevier will be placed tomorrow beside those of her husband, Tennessee's first governor, John Sevier, reuniting posthumously two of the State's historic figures after a separation of more than a century.

The body was disinterred yesterday at Russellville, Ala., and brought to Knoxville today where it will lie in state until it is said to rest tomorrow beside the shaft which marks the last resting place of Governor Sevier.

SURE TO HELP SICK WOMEN

Mrs. Baker, So Much Benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Anxious to Help Others

Lebanon, Indiana.—"I was completely run down from women's troubles and for a long time was hardly able to do my work. I had some friends who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they told me about it. I know what it has done for me and I recommend it to others, as I am sure it will be a great help to all sick women. It is a wonderful medicine, and I give you permission to use my testimonial and my photograph."—Mrs. EMMA BAKER, 310 S. East St., Lebanon, Indiana.

These letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ought to convince women of the great worth of this medicine in the treatment of ailments to which they are often subject.

Mrs. Baker calls it "a wonderful medicine." If you are suffering from troubles women often have, or feel all run down, without any ambition or energy for your regular work, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a natural restorative and should help you as it has Mrs. Baker and many, many other women.

Farmers Anxious Over Rail Strike

Fear Fuel Shortage or Transportation May Interfere With Harvesting and Marketing.

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, July 27.—Reports from thirteen states to Secretary Claude B. Davis of the American farm bureau federation shows that farmers becoming anxious over continuance of the coal and rail strikes, fearing a shortage of fuel or transportation may seriously interfere with harvesting and marketing. Federation officials in Iowa, Washington, Wisconsin and Illinois reported a shortage of coal.

Car Stalls; Owner Is Hurt By Train

RICHMOND, July 26.—Allowing a writ of error and supersedeas, the Virginia supreme court of appeals today agreed to review a case from the circuit court of Southampton county in which the court set aside a verdict of $1,000 awarded W. T. Cocksdale against the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company for injuries which he suffered when he was struck by a train of that company at a crossing between Newsum and Courtland. According to the records, Cocksdale was traveling in a Chevrolet car together with his son, George, and W. K. Story, when the accident occurred the night of October 1, 1929. He asserts in his petition that upon approaching the crossing, he stopped, looked and listened, but neither saw nor heard a train approaching. As he started across the tracks, the engine of his car chucked, causing it to stall. He and the other two occupants got out and were in the act of shoving the car off the tracks when a train, moving at the rate of between 50 and 60 miles an hour, according to his petition, came along without headlight and without blowing its whistle. He could get out of the way. It struck him in the back, seriously injuring him. The road, he admits, had never been dedicated as a county highway, but it had been used for public travel as long as the oldest citizens of the county could remember. He charges that the railroad company was negligent in operating the train at unusual speed and was further negligent in failing to blow its whistle upon approaching the crossing and to display its headlight.

WORLD SEARCH ON TO CLEAR UP NEW "WANDERER CASE"

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Police throughout the world have been asked by San Francisco authorities to arrest Walter Castor. The hunted man is wanted for the murder of Mrs. Anne Wilkens, victim of a slaying believed by police to be a duplicate of the famous Carl Wanderer case in Chicago.

Mrs. Wilkens and her husband, Henry Wilkens, were riding in an automobile when two men held them up. One of the attackers shot Mrs. Wilkens.

The arrest of Arthur Castor followed. Authorities gave out a confession in which Arthur charged that he and his brother, Walter, had been hired by the dead woman's husband to perpetrate a fake hold-up. The husband was arrested, although he denied the charge.

Arthur Castor's defense is that he was engaged merely to drive the bandit car, and did not know that a slaying was contemplated. He states that he doesn't know whether his brother or Wilkens fired the fatal shot.

Davis Replies To Recent Charges

ROANOKE, July 26.—Lawrence S. Davis, when asked by a reporter yesterday about the charges made against Senator Swanson by former Governor Davis in reference to the former being a machine candidate, said:

"I do not believe that former Governor Westmoreland Davis will gain any support by raising the old cry of machine or anti-machine in Virginia. It will be recalled that the late Colonel Henry W. Anderson in his campaign against Governor Trimble last fall attempted to resurrect this as an issue with remarkably poor success. During this campaign Senator Glass in a published letter written to the late Congressman Flood, dated Washington, D. C., October 29, 1921, regarding his inability to speak over the state, said:

"As for Colonel Anderson's quotations from former Governor Montague and from me in condemnation of the political machine, that is ancient history. Montague and I complained of a machine when there was a machine, and we had no help from Colonel Anderson or any of his supporters at that time. Colonel Anderson complained of a machine when there is no machine. Montague has been elected to Congress without factional agitation or opposition. I have been elected to the United States Senate without opposition either in the primary or general election. On the other hand, the late Senator Martin and Senator Swanson were re-elected without any factional opposition; thus it appears that ex-Governor Davis, when there was an anti-machine organization in Virginia, like Colonel Anderson, gave it no support."

"As a further evidence that there is no machine in Virginia, it is said that most of the leaders in the anti-organization movement of the past year, such as ex-Governor Henry C. Stuart, former governor and present Congressman Andrew Jackson Montague, Hon. John Garland Pollard, and many others, who formerly opposed Senator Swanson are now supporting him for re-election to the United States Senate."

New Lee Memorial Planned By U. C. V.

Memorial School of Engineering Proposed, to Be Erected at Lexington.

A memorial of a new type and on a large scale to General Robert E. Lee is the latest plan of the United Confederate Veterans Organization, backed in the enterprise by the Sons of Confederate Veterans. The formation of the memorial was definitely decided upon in Richmond at the late Reunion, and the campaign is already under way. A committee of such men as General Julian S. Carr, Commander-in-chief of the Veterans; General W. B. Freeman, Commander of the Virginia Division, and General W. A. Clarke, Commander of the South Carolina Division, has the affair in charge, and Mayor Harry Wooding, Commander of the local camp, gives the movement his hearty endorsement, and urges the people of Danville to co-operate therein.

A thousand dollars has already been subscribed in this city to the memorial, which is to be of unprecedented type, and which will be the first monument ever erected to Lee by the men he led. General Lee, who after the war, turned down an offer of ten thousand dollars a year to be president of Washington college, in Lexington, Va., at a salary of one thousand a year, founded in Lexington a school of engineering, one of the first in the South. It was natural that Lee should have done this, as he was an engineer by profession. The school that he founded is still in existence, but is very inadequately housed and equipped, and without independent endowment. The Veterans intend to build, equip, and maintain the Robert E. Lee Memorial School of Engineering, to take the place of the present inadequate school, thereby erecting to their beloved leader a living, self-perpetuating beneficent memorial.

The first floor of the new building is to contain a great Lee Memorial hall, in the center of which is to be a statue of Lee as an educator, which will stress the period of his life after the war, the time when he rose to the most majestic heights of character and service.

Ranked around this statue, on the walls of the hall will be one hundred bronze tablets, bearing the names of the one hundred "founders" of the school. Every person who donates, either by a clause in his will or by a direct gift, five thousand dollars or more to the foundation will be entitled to name a founder, to whom a tablet will be inscribed. From those kindly disposed toward the enterprise of the Veterans, but unable to donate so large a sum as five thousand dollars, smaller bequests will be gladly accepted, and life sketches of all donors will be kept in a volume in the Memorial Hall.

The campaign is now under way, and Danville will be called on to do its part in the building of this memorial.

A member of the committee summoned up the purpose of the veterans in the following words:

"Those who remain have declared that they wish to close the chapter of their devoted loyalty by erecting this memorial, not dumb like bronze, not easily destroyed like marble, but lasting from age to age, a living institution, perpetuating the ideals of the old South, carrying forward the banner of the higher civilization and the richer culture, guarding the tomb of the stainless Lee, doing the work for which he gave himself."

New Hope For Peace Is Seen

Leaders of Both Sides in Shopmen's Strike Gather at Washington for Mysterious Conclave.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Hope for a move toward settlement of the railroad strike was revived today as leaders of both sides gathered here presumably for a conference with administration officials although definite indications were lacking as to whether the presence here at the same time had added significance of any prearrangement.

E. M. Lewis, strike leader and ex-International president, went into conference immediately with W. H. Johnson, head of the machinists union. At the same time T. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the National Railroad Executives, went into conference with the president.

Drowns In Four Feet Of Water

HAMPTON, Va., July 26.—Leaving his home in Blair avenue, Kecoughtan, Saturday afternoon to go to James River to bail out a small boat, John Berry Simmons, employed in the machinist department at the shipyard, was overcome with cramps shortly after entering the water and drowned.

The remains of the young man were found in about four feet of water, probably 100 feet from shore Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by several young men, who were bathing at the time, a short distance above the Elizabeth Buxton hospital.

Mr. Simmons, who came here from Mississippi several years ago, lived with his mother Mrs. Hinkle, in Blair avenue and was well known and much liked around that community.

When he returned to his home from work Saturday afternoon, Mr. Simmons told his mother that he intended to go to the river to bail out a small boat, take a swim and would later go to Newport News to witness the circus. Mr. Simmons never returned to his home and late Saturday night, Mrs. Hinkle gave the alarm but efforts at that time failed to locate the young man.

Dr. George K. Vanderslice, the coroner, after viewing the body of the young man gave a certificate of death from accidental drowning. Dr. Vanderslice said the general appearance of the body showed that Mr. Simmons was probably stricken with cramps after he had started to swim in the shallow water.

The remains of the young man were turned over to Undertaker Hugh Caffee, in Newport News, and arrangements for the funeral services had not been announced up to 10:30 o'clock this morning.

He Was Down But Was Not Knocked Down As Charged

Charges of assault against Robert Thompson, Jake Shackelford and Willie Worsham, were aired in the police court this morning, which resulted in Thompson and Shackelford being fined $5 and costs and the warrant against Worsham being dismissed, owing to the fact that he had been fined Monday in connection with the case for being drunk and disorderly. Thompson is said to have assaulted Shackelford and Worsham and the latter was said to have assaulted Thompson. The evidence revealed a mixed-up affair. The fight took place below the depot.

Officers testified of seeing Worsham lying on the ground, presumably having been knocked down by Thompson. Worsham denied that he was assaulted. "Why were you down?" inquired the mayor. "I was fined last Monday for being down," replied Worsham, who explained that he was down by reason of other causes than being struck by Thompson, making reference to the drunk charge.

Thompson was fined $10 and costs for a violation of the Mapp Act.

Jitney Ordinance Has Been Dissolved

(By The Associated Press.)
RICHMOND, Va., July 27.—Judge Camp, of the Law and Equity Court today dissolved the injunction granted Rev. E. P. Robertson in the preaching, Charlie Robertson, Rev. E. P. Robertson's brother, assisted in the singing.

There were 11 united with the church and 10 of them were baptized.

Miss Ola Scarce spent the week at home last week and attended the meeting at Bethlehem.

Miners' Union Is Facing Disruption

If Farrington's Plan Is Carried Through Organization Will Disintegrate, Says John Watt, Branding Action As "Sedition."

(By The Associated Press.)
SPRINGFIELD, July 27.—Disruption of the United Mine Workers of America if President Farrington, of the Illinois mine workers, is permitted to proceed with the program announced at St. Louis late yesterday, was predicted here today by John Watt, secretary and treasurer of the Springfield district, who declared "I present to you a plan of international, present, the first and last quickly." According to Watt, the action of Farrington in calling a convention to submit separate wage contracts is "a labor union" and nothing short of "sedition" by Farrington.

Mrs. J. P. Francis Died Early Today at Hospital

Mrs. J. P. Francis passed away at the general hospital this morning at 11:15, following a brief illness. Mrs. Francis was 28 years of age, underwent an operation Saturday, having been taken to the hospital Thursday from her home, 774 East Patton street. Besides her husband she is survived by one child, also her mother, Mrs. Della Price, and one brother, Walter Dove, both of this city.

The funeral will be held from 217 Fairfax street on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. C. L. Garrison, and Rev. H. W. Connolly. Interment will be in Leominster cemetery.

—Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Garvin and little son are on a ten days visit to Winchester.

Coal Situation To Be Handled

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce are to hold a meeting at four o'clock tomorrow for the purpose of discussing the local coal situation which is becoming increasingly serious in view of the strike of coal miners and railwaymen. One plan put forward is to name a local commission to deal with coal deliveries, to poll all that comes into Danville and to do it out to those industries most in need of it.

While coal has been coming in the supply being used here industrially is slowly being diminished as the deliveries are not as large as the demand.

GIVES BIRTHDAY PARTY

Thursday afternoon between the hours of five and seven Katherine Hunter Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Burton, of Jefferson St., celebrated her fourth birthday. After games had been played by the children an ice course was served. The color scheme of pink and white was effectively carried out in the refreshments. Among those invited were: Mary Thompson, Adrienne Gregory, Sylvia Silverman, Julian Anderson, Carlson Thomas, Katherine Dickerson, Emily Dickerson, Barbara Ann Bendall, Mary Elizabeth Powell, Lela Fox Turner, Teesey Fox, Florence Fox, and Curtis Brown.

Burmese Head Hunters Are a Savage Tribe

RANGOON, July 27.—(United Press.)—Henderson, a Harvard graduate who has spent the past eight months traveling in southern Asia, has just completed a trip through the British "un-administered territory" of northeastern Burma and into the Chinese province of Yunnan, neither of which have been thoroughly explored by white men.

Among the wild tribes encountered on this trip were the head-hunting Was. Hitherto little has been definitely known concerning the life and customs of this tribe, as most of those who turned upon the Was territory failed to return. The Was do not hunt heads primarily for cannibalistic motives, but rather because of their belief that their crops will fail unless fresh human skulls are hung about their houses. Under this impression they organize head-hunting expeditions every spring, and it is small consolation to the unfortunate traveler who falls into their hands that it is only his skull that is wanted.

Writing of the wild Was, Mr. Henderson says:

"The Was are especially keen on hunting heads during February, March, and April—just before the monsoon season. From the Was angle of looking at it, the business isn't the madness we take it to be. It is a convention, and quite as conventional as afternoon tea. Every decently civilized man who visits the Was camp is properly charmed and condescended with a human head, the crop raised from it will be a failure. And who wants to starve? In fact, if worst comes to worst, and there are no heads forthcoming from raids on neighbors, the Was prefer to take the head of some feeble person in the village rather than run the risk of scant crops and consequent empty stomachs."

In February, March and April, then the wild Was men go hunting. Of course, any head that offers the man working alone cutting jungle or the woman hoeing alone in the field to be cautious when the Was are about. A common practice is to barricade some jungle highway and lie in ambush, some just behind the barricade and some on either side to rush down on the backs of any party caught in the trap.

"Heads of men, women and children over 12 years of age are acceptable. Heads marked with small-pox, for superstitious reasons, are not desired. A successful ferry is one which yields one or more corpses. Landed heads are cut off and put in bags. Then back home go the raiding Was, not neglecting to take the bodies along for the larder, and raising a tremendous whooping and hubbub along the way. At home there a ceremony is performed. The wife or mother of the man who made the kill takes the head out of the bag and proceeds to wash over it formally. She must wash the blood from the dead face and wash in mountain water as far as she can. She must work herself into a sentimental frenzy while under the circumstances is usually to perform. If her willing husband helps to supply that which is lacking by beating her, he secures the ring of gentleness, the head and addresses it as a mighty ruler. It is this spirit which is to promote the growth of the crops, and it must be treated with great reverence. I heard this song once.

"After the head has been washed and waited over a raw egg is put into the mouth, to feed the spirit. Then the head is thrust up on a pole. A basket of seed paddy (rice) is put under it and left for a few days. As the head decays, the droppings fall into the seed paddy, and are thoroughly mixed with it. The paddy is then ready to plant, and a good crop is insured."

National Campaigns To Be Run By Radio

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Two big political radio-telephone broadcasting stations probably will be set up by the Republican and Democratic national committees for campaigning purposes.

Political publicity would be circulated throughout the country by these stations, which would facilitate campaigning.

Tentative proposals have been submitted to Chairman John T. Adams, of the Republican national committee, for setting up a $25,000 station on the roof of the Munsel building, where Republican headquarters are located.

Work will not be begun on the station until Congress places its sanction on the suggestion of Secretary of Commerce Hoover for government supervision of radio telephony.

Judge Cordell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, also has signified his intention of setting up a station if the Republican carry out their plans.

Prospects of a long summer session of Congress has lent impetus to the new suggestions. Many political leaders will be retained here and the radio-phones would enable them to get in some campaigning while remaining in the capital.

Suicide Leaves Ashes for His Broker's Lawn

NEW YORK, July 26.—After writing several notes to newspapers requesting that some one should see a real suicide, and another to a relative to have his body cremated and the ashes sent to the head of the brokerage firm where he did his trading to fertilize his lawn, a middle-aged, well-dressed man jumped early today and was drowned. Other messages, which he left in his last carefully placed on the deck before he climbed the rail to jump overboard, stated he had lost all his savings speculating in stocks. The body was not recovered.

IS DANVILLE IN A CLASS BY HERSELF?

Is it possible that Danville has an office that can be filled by only one man and that this office is so important that it would not be safe to trust the selection of this official to a majority of the citizens? We believe not. From the foundation of this Republic the people have been electing their public officials, from the highest down, and we believe the citizens of Danville will demand the right to select their officials by popular vote.

In a recent issue of the Danville Register a prominent official was quoted as saying in substance that the people should not have the selection of the official in charge of the water, gas and electric departments, and that the present incumbent should not be put to the ordeal of running around and begging the people to vote for him; that if he were elected this time they would have the law changed so that he would not be embarrassed in this way again.

If the people are capable of electing a mayor, legislators, governors, congressmen, senators, and even the President of the United States, is it possible that they cannot be trusted to elect the Superintendent of Public Utilities for the City of Danville?

We believe a majority of the people can at all times be trusted to do the right thing, and that in the election next Tuesday they will be slow to cast a vote that will lead to the placing of this office in the hands of a few while you pay the bills.

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION WILL DEMAND: Courts Speed Up—Uniform Laws—Strict Enforcement

BY GENE COHN
SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Speeding up the law's delay! Getting uniform state laws on corporations, divorce, extradition and law enforcement. Securing better enforcement of law, particularly as it affects crime rates. These are the highlights of activities which will feature the American Bar Association convention, opening here August 9—"the most important conference in the organizations' history," according to Cordenio A. Severance, president of the association.

Of the three main topics, interest of lawyers and courts centers on the matter of uniform laws. The convention will recommend that the Supreme Court work out a list of rules, after the fashion of federal court equity cases, which will insure uniformity of jury case laws in each state.

For five years the bar association has been working on this plan. Its result would be to make the status of any case the same in one state as in another and would be of inestimable aid to legal profession.

The case of the "law's delay" will be presented by William Howard Taft, chief justice and former president. Justice Taft has recently completed an exhaustive survey of English court procedure with a view of simplifying and speeding up American courts.

To the law enforcement committee will be entrusted the writing of one of the most important reports of the convention.

Realizing the grave situation resulting in so-called crime waves, the bar association has sought to get at the real causes, after a thorough investigation," says President Severance.

"Means of combating crime waves through the courts will be outlined by the legislative committee. A personal study has been made in eastern cities and criminals have had a chance to express their views to individual investigators.

"If, personally, there has been too much mollycoddling of criminals, too much evasion of jury duty by our better-class citizens, failure of citizens to use their powers of suffrage, and too many handiworks placed upon presentation of cases by district attorneys.

"Such things encourage crime. I don't think much of this after-the-war crime wave alibi. The figures fail to bear it up."

Man Makes Love, Then Robs Widow Of $6,000 In Jewels

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—Three Philadelphians, guests at one of the most fashionable hotels in Atlantic City over the Saturday-to-Wednesday Fourth of July holidays, have altered their opinions of a fourth member of the party, a young man who had been paying the bills, who entertained with a lavish hand and who declared that only the best of everything was good enough for his friends.

When the long, thoroughly enjoyable holiday was over and the party returned to this city, Mrs. Frances E. Kamp, an attractive brunette in the thirties, discovered that diamonds worth $6,000 had been stolen from her. She reported the loss to the police, and the police, in the building, the affairs of which Mrs. Kamp has been directing since the death of her husband, Simon R. Kamp, founder of the firm.

Mrs. Kamp attempted to communicate with the man who had entertained her at Atlantic City. In the time she had known him she had come to feel that he was a real friend and she believed that he could help her. But when she phoned the hotel where he had been living here in the finest of style, and asked for F. A. Stanley, he was not to be found. She was informed that he had disappeared, leaving behind him unpaid, a two-weeks' bill for accommodations, one of the best rooms in the house. The bag which had contained the diamonds was found in his room.

Mrs. Kamp has not seen Stanley since the party in Atlantic City, nor has she heard any word regarding him. The $6,000 loss from Mrs. Kamp, raised by a mortgage on her home at 2649 Baltimore avenue, nor has there been any word concerning another loan of $2,000 made by relatives of Mrs. Kamp, whom for which was raised in the same way—by negotiating a mortgage on their home in German-

After Stanley's disappearance they learned that the lavish entertainment provided by him at the seashore had not been at his own expense. The four days' sojourn at the hotel cost about $900, but this bill also remains unpaid.

Police all over the country are searching for a man about 32 years old, described as 5 feet 6 inches in height, slender, weighing about 125 pounds, and with dark hair and eyes. He is wanted on the charge, first of all, of swindling a widow after having taken advantage of the fact that she was virtually alone in the world, to ingratiate himself into her favor, and with the theft of her diamonds. After that he is charged with having victimized the McDewitts and two hotels.

Back of the charges of stealing and embezzlement lies a story of romantic interest. Stanley not only made a friend out of Mrs. Kamp after meeting her a few months ago through a mutual acquaintance but endeavored to find a place in the affection of the young widow.

Whether Stanley and Mrs. Kamp were engaged to be married is not known, but it is no secret that Stanley posed as desiring to marry the widow. She will not disclose the matter, but his face is admitted by Mrs. Paul Hermann, her step-daughter, who lives at 38 West Eighth street, Chester.

Thus far, although the search for Stanley has been extended all over the country, no trace has been picked up of the man's whereabouts, nor has it been learned in which direction he traveled after he came to the decision that this city was no longer a safe place for him to stay. It is believed by detectives here that the elusive confidence man of the sickle type, who has worked the hotel game before on numerous occasions,

Big Development Of Water Power

BY GEORGE H. MANNING
WASHINGTON, July 26.—The great impetus that may be given to industry in the next few years from development of water power is indicated by the fact that in two years since Congress passed the water power act and the Federal Power Commission was created applications have been filed for development of water power sites involving in excess of 26 million horsepower or six times the aggregate of all applications for power sites under Federal control in the preceding 20 years.

There is more water-power development under way at the present time than at any previous time in our history.

There is much more water-power waiting to be tapped and offering untold riches for enterprise, energy, and progress if we are to prevent our limiting coal supply, reduce the burden of coal transportation, increase the supply of electric energy and reduce its cost, the Federal Power Commission asserts in a statement, marking the first two years of its operations.

There were filed with the commission, in its second year applications aggregating a total of 6,000 horsepower, or more than twice the existing water-power installations of the country. The statute added to the applications a grand total of 10,000 horsepower, or more than half of the applications for power sites under Federal control in the preceding 20 years.

Nearly one-half of the aggregate of water-power applications were filed in the last year. It also reported that during the year 1921-22 the commission had received more than 100,000 applications for permits and licenses, of which 115 were disposed of during the last year. It also reported that during the year 1921-22 the commission had received more than 100,000 applications for permits and licenses, of which 115 were disposed of during the last year.

the waters of the river may be apportioned among these states.

The Federal Power Commission has performed an enormous task in the two years of its existence under such handicaps, though being restricted by Congress to a skeleton personnel and a meager appropriation.

To perform the greatest task with people to water powers that the government has ever had, Congress gave the commission no personnel other than a executive secretary and chief engineer, but obliged it to borrow for its work such personnel as the other departments could spare and were willing to loan. It has been operating two years under these extraordinary conditions with a staff of 100 men, 2 attorneys, 2 accountants and 15 clerks—a force utterly inadequate to perform the duties placed upon it by the act. The commission has no field force of its own, having no money, but must depend for examinations and reports and for the conduct of field hearings upon the good offices of the department—men who are primarily responsible for their own departmental duties.

It was given originally an appropriation of $100,000. The amount was increased for 1922. For 1923 it will have only the unexpended balance of the first year's appropriation.

Under such circumstances the commission has been obliged to do a great many important pieces of work and has been forced to omit duties which are of the greatest importance.

In carrying its activities primarily limited to applications for power projects, examinations of intentions and preparation of registration of water projects, the commission has been able to take care of more than half of the applications for permits and licenses, of which 115 were disposed of during the last year. It also reported that during the year 1921-22 the commission had received more than 100,000 applications for permits and licenses, of which 115 were disposed of during the last year.

Custom Bows To Merit Under Pope Pius XI

ROME, July 27.—(United Press.)—Back of Pope Pius' decision to postpone, if possible, till December his first consistory for the creation of new cardinals, lies the intention of working a very radical change in the filling of all the higher political and religious offices of the church.

Hereafter, according to intimate associates and counsellors to intimate Pius, all elevations to the sacred college of cardinals and all promotions and appointments in the vatican diplomatic service, are to be based purely on two things, cultural fitness and merit. Efficiency and not the custom, to be the keynote of Pope Pius' administration of the Holy See.

The decision of His Holiness to work this new reform in vatican appointments and to apply it both to the sacred college and the diplomatic service is pointed out by vatican circles as indicative of Pope Pius' intention to devote himself equally to the religious and political sides of the church.

Ordinarily, Pope Pius should have had a consistory as soon as possible after his incorporation. Not only is the sacred college reduced now by deaths from its full number of seventy to below sixty, but custom over centuries has established that each new pope must elevate as quickly as possible to the sacred college certain prelates whose position under the preceding pope entitled them to the sacred purple.

However, it is precisely this elevation by custom and tradition, and not by merit to the sacred college, that Pope Pius intends to break up. Centuries of custom have established that certain high positions in the church must lead eventually and inevitably to the sacred college.

At least under the pontificate of Pope Pius, these persons will only be promoted to the sacred college on condition that they merit it.

A similar reform will also be worked in the appointments to the vatican diplomatic corps. Time and experience has developed that neither the possession of a title of nobility or a special diplomatic education necessarily produced the best type of men for the diplomatic service.

In the future vatican diplomats will be chosen merely on a basis of fitness and merit. The first appointment under this new system is that of Monsignor Bellefregiati as papal nuncio to Delgrate. Similarly, Pope Pius has announced his intention of making ing all nominations of bishops himself, after a personal study of fitness in each case.

DEPUTIES GIVEN AMMUNITION
RICHMOND, Va., July 26.—Each of the eighteen deputies sworn in today by United States Marshal Clarence G. Each of the deputies was informed of their duties by Marshal Smithers and was warned not to enter the bounds, but to see that the law is carried out, just as any United States marshal or deputy marshal is expected to do. They have full authority of a deputy United States marshal, he told them.

TEN-MINUTE RELIEF FOR INDIGESTION

New Cordial Called "Anti-Ferment," Originated By a Druggist and Recommended by Physicians, Neutralizes Acid Condition of Stomach, Prevents Fermentation and Brings Instant Relief.

Indigestion and its attendant ills, such as dyspepsia, heart-burn, sour stomach, griping pains, dysentery, diarrhea, colic, cholera morbus, chronic constipation, gas, etc., and even sick, nervous headaches are now directly traceable to disorders in the digestive organs.

The food sours before it is fully digested, thus putting into solution toxic poisons that are absorbed into the system, irritating the intestines and setting up inflammation. To avoid this, you simply have to prevent fermentation by using Anti-Ferment. Anti-Ferment neutralizes the acid condition of the stomach, cleanses and sweetens the bowels, soothes and heals the inflamed intestines and increases the flow of gastric juices, giving quick and certain relief. Get a bottle of Anti-Ferment from your druggist with a guarantee of satisfactory results or money returned. It will improve your appetite, give you restful sleep and make you feel better than you ever felt in your life.—adv.

ACTRESS MAY HALT SUIT AGAINST WHITNEY SCION

The 5-month-old son of Evan Burrows Fontaine.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Good news for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and their eldest son, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, came today from Los Angeles in a telegram sent by Evan Burrows Fontaine, the beautiful dancer, who claims her child is the child of "Sonny" Whitney.

"I have some splendid offers from the films," her message runs, "and I may be rich some day. After all, I had rather bring up the baby on money I earn myself, than on money that is given to me."

If Evan's opportunity to become one of the high-salaried film stars materializes it is probable, according to her friends, that she will call a halt to plans to go to court with two suits for substantial money awards against young Whitney.

In that event the Whitney millions will remain intact to be handed down to "Sonny."

The one element which has militated and still militates against a quiet squelching of Evan and her claims under a right of opposition motions is Attorney Charles Firestone, who returned to New York today from Pittsburgh and proceeded to repair the damage wrought to Evan's legal advantages by the withdrawal from the case on the previous day of former State Senator Edgar Truman Brackbill of Saratoga.

What Attorney Firestone believes was a cleverly contrived plot to abduct the baby was thwarted several months ago, it became known today. A woman who posed as a newspaper reporter on the staff of a New York daily had contrived to gain the confidence of Mrs. Fontaine and asked one day to be allowed to take the baby for a daily airing on the lawn.

The Fontaines had consented when Firestone came up and met two women in the hallway. He promptly revoked Mrs. Fontaine's consent and asked the sympathetic lady author to leave the house. She has not returned since.

Later, and one encounter with Harry Whitney, the father of Sonny.

The details of the conversation were related by Evan, who tells how the millionaire first tried to overpower his pretty opponent in the dialogue with his expert courtesy.

He was elaborately considerate," she tells. "The occasion was a dinner given at the McAlpin Hotel. I had guessed the purpose behind the invitation which was mailed to me, because 'Sonny' had warned me that papa had decided to face his sons' claims. So I went in my best, my tucker and did my feverish best to fascinate the room full of prominent men and women who were present. I was so foolish as to hope that this was to be a sort of test of my ability to carry off the role of Mrs. Whitney."

Sat Out Dances.

Harry Whitney, danced the first dance with me—just a few steps—and then he gallantly led me on his arm into an ante-room where we were alone. We walked up and down the room and talked.

He tried to get every subject—from horses to diamonds—into the conversation. I remember what he said, but I don't remember what I said. You know how it is—you forget all the clever things when you want to reject them."

The curious thing about Evan's story of mind as her continued liking for the members of the Whitney family. Though she indicts "Sonny's" conduct and resents the father's interference in what she was convinced was destined to be a love match, all her references to the pair are larded with little involuntary memories of their charm.

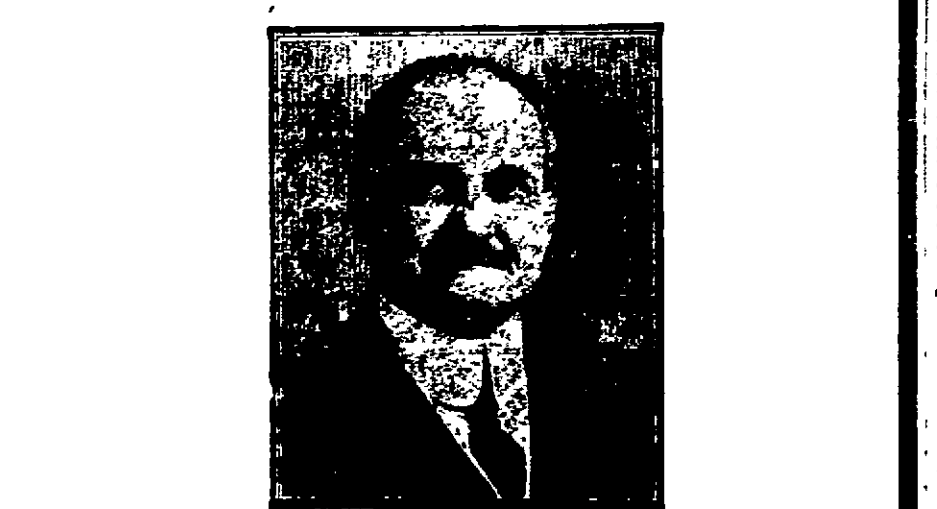

Harding Can Seize Roads and Mines Without Congress O. K.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—While Secretary Hoover's plan, under which decision rendered by the Attorney General to use the routing of cars as a club to control the price of coal is expected to keep things going until the strike is settled, there is in possession a still more formidable weapon in the President's hands.

Attorney General Daugherty has furnished President Harding with an opinion that he is empowered to seize the roads or the coal mines or both and operate them in the public interest whenever the emergency becomes so acute as to demand such an expedient, without any legislation from Congress or other preliminary proceeding. This opinion has not been made public and probably will not be unless the President feels called upon to act under it.

The Government is bringing all the pressure it can muster on the roads to get them to yield on the restoration of seniority rights to the striking shopmen. Some of the roads did not declare the seniority rights forfeited; others are listening to the Federal arguments and are expected to yield.

With the seniority clause removed there is a growing hope that the whole business of the railroads will be settled shortly and with the railroads functioning normally the prophecy is ventured that the mines can be reopened and a sufficient quantity of coal can be produced and distributed to avert the worst consequences of the present situation.

Davis For Senator

"Of the People—For the People."

The Federal Government levies and collects each year directly from the people of Virginia SIXTY-ONE MILLION DOLLARS—nearly three times as much as the State collects from her citizens for State purposes. This figure is steadily mounting.

A National Executive Budget is as imperative as was the State Budget introduced by Governor Davis. Economy and efficiency are more necessary today than ever. The people are being smothered and business stifled by inordinate taxation.

Politics and politicians are responsible for national extravagance. More business men are needed in Washington. We offer you a successful, fearless, aggressive statesman, a hard student of governmental affairs, a loyal Democrat who has made good every promise.

COPS ARM WITH YARDSTICKS TO ENFORCE "LEG LAWS"

"OFFICER, DO YOUR DUTY" AND HERE'S THE KANSAS CITY "LEG CENSOR DOING IT"

KANSAS CITY, July 27.—Police regulation of legs threatens to start a social revolution in Kansas City.

Cops go around with yardsticks in their hands and a glad light of enjoyment in their eyes, greeting flappers thus:

"Excuse me lady, have you had your legs measured this morning? You'll pardon my stare, but that looks like more than nine inches to me."

The leg censor is Lieutenant Walter Z. Fitzsimmons, inspector of police (who by the way is only 32). He and his coppers are expected to carry out an edict by the municipal government that skirts of all city employees—400 nurses, clerks, stenographers, police matrons and telephone operators—should "not be higher than nine inches from the ground."

Then the Kansas City Telephone Company posted this notice at the Benton exchange:

"Girls of this exchange must not wear dresses which come higher than two inches below the knee. Pink things of all description, together with underneath lace, must not show through open-neck sweaters or revealing waists. Waists must have sleeves of modest length."

Inspector Fitzsimmons has been deluged with letters of protest. Cops with yardsticks don't object to measuring legs—but their wives do. Another puzzle is what to be done in the case of short ladies whose knees are less than 11 inches from the ground.

The agitated inspector has appealed to the women's clubs for guidance.

FAVORABLE WEEK IN COTTON BELT

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Most sections of the cotton belt experienced another favorable week in the period ending yesterday, the weather bureau announced today. Unseasonably warm and dry weather prevailed in the western section of the belt, but elsewhere temperatures were moderate and the greater part of the interior districts received light to moderate showers, only certain Atlantic coast sections suffering from too much moisture.

Eastern sections of the Carolinas, including large producing areas in North Carolina, were hit by excessive rains, but elsewhere in the two states good progress was reported. A number of interior counties in Georgia also reported too much rain, but good progress was reported generally, with the crop fruiting well, though considerable shedding was noted. Improvement was shown in Alabama, where despite their smallness the plants were fruiting nicely.

Except in the northeastern section of Arkansas, very good progress was reported in that state. Mississippi and Tennessee, while conditions were fairly favorable in most of Louisiana, though some districts were adversely affected by excessive moisture.

Late planted cotton in Texas and the crop in Western Oklahoma was suffering from dry weather, though general progress in Texas was described as very good, and in Oklahoma fair, though shedding was reported in those states and in some east Gulf sections.

Weevil activity in the western section was checked by the warm, dry weather, but the pest was causing considerable damage in much of the central and eastern parts of Oklahoma. The cloudy, rainy weather in the more eastern sections of the belt, however, favored the weevil, and they were reported numerous and destructive in Georgia, increasing rapidly in eastern South Carolina and becoming more numerous in North Carolina.

THE HAGUE MEET IS COMMENDED

LONDON, July 26.—(Associated Press)—Sir Philip Lloyd Greame, head of the British delegation at the Hague conference reporting on the work of that body to the House of Commons today, expressed the opinion that it had made a long step forward on the path toward a Russian settlement. The next and final step, he added, rested with the Russian government. He denied that the procedure of the conference was in any way forced upon the party by the others and declared that the only hope of restoring Russia's industry lay in bringing back into as many of those who built it up as possible.

SITUATION IS ACUTE

RICHMOND, Va., July 26.—The situation growing out of the strike of railroad shopmen has become so acute that the Interstate Commerce commission is appealing to corporation commissions of the various states for aid in the distribution of fuel in the interest of the public if the emergency demands it.

SLUMP IN EXCHANGE VALUE OF FARM PRODUCTS SHOWN

WASHINGTON, The purchasing power, or exchange value, of farm products slumped four points between March and June to 72 per cent of the 1913 basis in the latter month, according to statistics made public today by the department of agriculture. The buying power of farm products in terms of other products stood at 76 per cent in March, having advanced from 65 per cent in January, which was a raise of three points over the low mark touched in November, 1921.

From December to March, the statistics disclosed, the output of farm products increased in price more rapidly than did commodities the farmers needed to buy, the percentage climbing to 71 in February and five points higher by March.

Since that time, however, the price movements have been reversed, farm products gaining in less degree than those things required by the farmer, though more gradually than the preceding movement, the index dropping one point for April, two for May and one for June.

THREE MILE RULE WILL REMAIN

LONDON, July 26.—(By The Associated Press)—With reference to the note from the Washington government, asking cooperation in the suppression of liquor-running into the United States through Bermuda and the Bahamas, it is understood the British government has informed Washington that the three mile limit rule cannot be altered. Great Britain takes the ground that she is unable to make a precedent allowing the seizure of such vessels outside that limit.

The government, however, is consulting with the colonial governments concerned with respect to clearance papers, change of registry and other points.

—Miss Rosa Robertson has returned to the city after a delightful visit to relatives and friends in Denver, Omaha, and Colorado Springs.

THE THREATENED CLERKS' STRIKE BEEN AVERTED

ATLANTA, Ga., July 26.—The threatened strike of clerks of the Southeastern Express company has been averted. It was announced tonight by H. C. Caldwell, general chairman of the clerks' brotherhood, after a conference which he and other union officials had here with J. B. Hockaday, president of the company. "All differences have been amicably adjusted," Mr. Caldwell said. Further, it was stated that the company and its union clerks had settled all questions at issue and that no appeal to the labor board would be made, nothing could be learned about the agreement. Mr. Caldwell's announcement was confined to the bare announcement of an amicable settlement and Mr. Hockaday limited himself to little more than "I am proud to say that the announcement is correct."

Questions of wages and working conditions were understood to have entered into the case and the clerks recently were reported to have voted for a strike unless an adjustment was reached.

About 1,500 clerks are affected.

FAVORABLE RECEPTION OF TREASURY'S NEW OFFER

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Favorable reception of the treasury's new offer of four and one fourth per cent. four-year notes in the investments markets of the country was indicated tonight in reports to Secretary Mellon. The four and one fourth per cent. rate on the new notes is a new low level for government obligations with a four year maturity.

CHARGES ARE DISMISSED.

ATLANTA, July 26.—Charges of violating the Federal prohibition law made recently against Clark Grier, of Augusta, former member of the Republican state central committee in Georgia, were dismissed by Judge Samuel H. Shipley in Federal district court here today. He sustained in effect the plea of the defense that the charges were vague and cited no particular offense.

Laddie Bo's Birthday Cake Arrives In Time For Anniversary

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Much preferring a bone to the teeth were known—Laddie Boy, the President's dog, received a birthday cake today from his old man at Toledo along with a letter telling of the continued good conduct of the family.

Dressed in a box shaped like a regulation doghouse, the cake, made of Bog biscuit, was sent by a night train to the White House, to express messengers.

It was not delayed by the messengers, and got here in time for Laddie's birthday which is Wednesday. It will not be opened until then, and meanwhile invitations will go to some of Laddie's friends of equal social rank to hop, frolic and have a bite.

There were, however, no of Laddie's mother, his sister, who is getting along toward her high school days, his brother, who has a job in New York, and little Dick, the baby, who after a short time in the hospital, Laddie's old man sent him here as a friend and pal of the president.

But the picture Laddie Boy seemed to like best was his daddy, an understanding old man, with the Laddie boy name, and for whom at night he sometimes whines.

This defiance Mr. Ogilvie said, "will only arouse the entire community to stamp out such leadership of trade union organizations, which can only lead to anarchy."

General Sawyer

Denies Charges

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Replying to charges that as chief co-ordinator of the Federal board of hospitalization he had delayed and obstructed the government's program for care of disabled war veterans, Brigadier General Sawyer, President Harding's personal physician, in a formal statement today declared "facts certainly show that the United States government is doing every consistent thing possible for the disabled veterans; and for the length of time at its disposal everything has been achieved which human agency could accomplish."

General Sawyer's statement was in reply to the charge made public yesterday in Chicago by A. A. Sprague, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, that the President's physician was standing in the way of hospitalization work.

In his statement General Sawyer declared that "it is the determination of the present administration to give to the disabled world war veterans the very best hospital service that can possibly be provided."

"It should be my constant effort and my policy," the statement continued, "to proceed with reason, efficiency and economy in carrying out such of its affairs as come to the attention of the Federal board of hospitalization. From this position I will not be forced, cajoled or stymied."

Declaring that the American public should know the hospital situation as it really exists at the present time, General Sawyer said it could then be determined whether the government is making efforts to take care of its disabled war veterans and whether the charges by Mr. Sprague were just.

"At present under government control and operation," his statement continued, "there are in the United States of America 29 government hospitals with a capacity of 18,412 beds, 16,191 of which are at the present time unoccupied."

"When the hospitalization plan of the government for the care of the former service men shall have been completed as now contemplated—and which is being hurried to early completion—it will represent in all of the departments a total expenditure approximating $400,000,000."

Commenting with issuing the statement, Dr. Sawyer made public letters from his associates on the Federal board and from Colonel Forbes, director of the veterans' bureau, commending him for his work and expressing appreciation for his services.

HARDING URGES STRIKERS TO RETURN TO WORK

WASHINGTON, July 26.—President Harding in a telegram sent today to J. C. Hearn, chairman of the rail way employees' publicly associated in Chattanooga, Tenn., "invited" them to accept the decision of the railroad labor board and return to work.

"I am sure that every patriotic citizen," he repeated in American letters, "will join in asking the railroad labor board to give a releasing on any question concerning which there is reasonable doubt about the correctness of the justice of the decision made."

SCOTLAND TO SEND COAL TO AMERICA

LONDON, July 26.—Important contracts have been placed in Scotland for immediate shipments of coal to the United States and additional orders are under negotiation. This is the first time since the outbreak of the World War that Scottish coal has been bought for shipment to America.

Scotland also has been asked to ship large quantities of coal to South American markets hitherto supplied from the United States. The situation has brought Scottish coal export figures almost to the pre-war level.

Troops Are Sent

FONDE, Ky., July 26.—Troops sent here by Governor Morrow were today greeted with hoots and jeers by crowds of striking miners, but no violence was attempted. Tonight the situation was quiet and orderly.

If You Wear
Glasses

Your vacation preparations are not complete until you have given them proper consideration.

A duplicate pair of glasses will prevent turning your vacation into aggravation, and if made with tinted lenses they will serve a double purpose. They will protect your eyes from the Summer Sun and can be worn regularly in an emergency.

Come in and talk it over—no obligation, of course.

THREE OUT OF FIVE HAVE BAD
SIGHT; HOW TO AVOID IT

DON'T

GERTRUDE THOMPSON AND SKETCHES ILLUSTRATING HER SIGHT-SAVING "DON'TS."

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEW YORK, July 27.—If you want to save your eyes, don't overlook the "don'ts" of Miss Gertrude Thompson, young Cleveland school teacher.

With Robert B. Irwin, who is totally blind, she is teaching teachers how to conserve the sight of children. This course, the first of its kind, is being conducted at the summer school of Columbia University here.

"More than 25,000,000 of the 42,000,026 gainfully employed in this country," says Miss Thompson, "are handicapped by defective vision."

"And the situation is steadily getting worse."

"Yet a few simple precautions, taken in time, will check this condition."

"If you want to save your eyes, DON'T—

—read in a poor light. It develops eye strain."

—drive without wearing glasses. The dust produced in the air by the wheels of the car will irritate the eyes."

—wear cheap colored glasses. Their imperfections make them worse than none."

—go to the movies too often."

—read lying down."

—try to read while riding. The bad light and swaying train make for eye strain."

"Keep your glasses in your pocket. If a physician has prescribed them, there must have been a reason."

"Bring your eye to your work. Carry the work to the eye. The best working position is the upright."

"Rub your eyes. It makes the strain greater."

"Read facing the light. Turn your back to it."

"Use a common towel. You never can tell who used it before."

"Attempt to read small type."

"What should one do?"

"Obey these don'ts," Miss Thompson smiles, "and leave your eyes alone. If there is any trouble, go to a physician."

Irwin agrees.

Blind since childhood, he has developed a system of educating the sightless in Cleveland which has been taken up all over the country. As a teacher of this work, he undertook to help those who weren't quite blind to save their sight."

He organized sight-saving classes throughout Ohio. There are now 131 schools in the country teaching their children how to spare their eyes."

Radicalism Charge Against LaFollette

MADISON, Wis., July 27.—Two charges of outcast importance are now before the Wisconsin voters at the September 5 primary, the one between Senator Robert M. LaFollette, seeking re-nomination for the third time as the Republican candidate for U. S. Senator, and Dr. W. A. Gamfield, president of Carroll College and the other between Gov. J. I. Blaine seeking re-nomination as Republican candidate, and Attorney General William J. Morgan, his opponent.

"Radicalism" is the issue being expressed by the candidates opposed to Senator LaFollette and Governor Blaine, who are in a political partnership. According to the LaFollette faction the issue is between "progress and reaction" between the principles enunciated by Senator LaFollette during his 25 years as a political leader in Wisconsin and what they term the reactionary principles of his political enemies.

Dr. Gamfield during his campaign for the state is attacking the record of the senior Wisconsin senator. LaFollette's advocacy of a constitutional amendment to give Congress authority to re-nominate measures passed by the state legislature is one of his chief points of attack.

LaFollette's endorsement by the Wisconsin legislature of its recent convention and what the candidate says is the present senator's hostility to everything favored by a majority of Congress has supplied some of the issues of his campaign.

LaFollette's campaign will be the setting of Senator Truman University, the federal reserve bank act and the nation's foreign policy.

LaFollette's record as a senator and his present position as a candidate for the state legislature are the issues of his campaign.

publican of the seventh district, who defeated John J. Bach two years ago, will be opposed at the primaries by A. C. Kinsford, of Baraboo.

Miss Martha C. Riley, of Madison has announced her candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congress from the third district. Miss Riley is former probation and truancy officer of Madison.

Sharp primary contests are predicted between representatives of the Republican faction, both seeking to gain control of the state legislature. Democrats and socialists have been minor quantities for several sessions.

Strange Will Is Admitted to Probate

LONDON, July 27.—Strange as the story of any document told in fiction is that of a will which has just been admitted in probate and is now filed in Somerset House.

It is the "last will and testament" of a sailor, William Skinner, who lost his life when his ship, the Indefatigable, was sunk in the battle of Jutland. It is in the form of the ordinary identification disc. On one side in the usual deeply punched letters, appears the name, number, rating and religion of the man to whom it had been issued.

On the other side the disc appears at first sight to be just a circular piece of smooth, polished brass. But when viewed at a certain angle, there can be seen about 75 minutely engraved words. With a microscope they can be plainly read. They constitute Skinner's will by which he bequeaths everything to his wife. The disc had been recovered from the sea with Skinner's body and on being cleaned revealed its secret.
